

ANOTHER DEAD HEAT.

RACELAND AND HIS HIGHNESS IN THE HUDDSON HANDICAP.

JOCKEYS CAUTIONED FOR FOUL RIDING—EX-

CUTTING FINISHES AT MORRIS PARK.

Some of the finishes at Morris Park day are so close that the public are kept guessing. The Hudson River Handicap run yesterday, was a triumph for Mr. Vashington, the official handicapper for both the New York Jockey Club and the Monmouth Park Association. The three horses most favored by the best judges—Raceland, His Highness and Stockton—passed the winning post so near together that only the three men on the wire could tell which had the advantage. Many of the spectators thought Stockton won; more were certain that His Highness was the winner, and still others were positive that Raceland was the first home. The judges decided that Raceland and His Highness made a dead heat and that Stockton was third, a head behind. Raceland would certainly have won but for a little crowding in the last furlong. His Highness was mainly responsible for this. He swerved toward the rail, crossing Stockton, who interfered with Fidelio. Fidelio, in pulling up to get out of harm's way, interfered with Raceland. It was an extraordinary finish. Raceland ought to have won. But he got through just an instant too late. Terrier was a good fourth. The judges called up Sims to give him a warning, and Sims blamed His Highness, which was right. The latter never swerved before, but on this occasion he ran dangerously near his opponents.

There was more interference in the final race, which Chesapeake won by a head in a driving finish. Chesapeake crossed Addie, forcing her to pull up, and rode Sir Matthew on the rail in the last 100 yards. No complaint was made, but that should not have prevented the judges from taking notice of Mr. Lovell's case. He charged James Lambley with interfering with Addie, supposing that the little boy was on Addie. But John Lambley rode Bolo. Furthermore, Bolo did not touch Addie in any part of the race. Mr. Lovell must have made a mistake in the colors. Chesapeake did all the fouling.

Roller won the second race in a driving finish from Julian, the favorite.

The popular starlet was born to the front in the Delavante Stakes by J. A. & H. Morris's bay filly Melody, who led nearly all the way, and won with pounds to spare. A poor lot of fillies ran in this race. The time was 1:30. Any selling-plater can beat that.

By the way, on the program record each race is printed the record of the distance to be run. This was a suggestion of Richard Croker. Thanks.

It is a capital idea. Mr. Croker is a man of ideas. Matile Corcoran searched the ring on his Kilkenny colt who won the fifth race easily. Simmons, who finished third, fell over him. No particular harm was done. Simmons was too interfered with in any way. Clayton was suspended by the Board for meeting the track irregularly. He pulled up from behind in the fall gallop. The judges questioned Clayton, who gave as an excuse that he was interfered with. Flint, who rode Simmons, was fined $100 for disobeying the rules.

Raceland took the race like a highwayman. The attendance was unusually large for Monday. The day was agreeable, as a light wind blew through the grand stand from the rear. It was far cooler at the track than in the city. The races are described in the summaries.

THE MORRIS PARK ENTRIES TO-DAY. This will be one of the most interesting days of the whole meeting at Morris Park, because Sir Francis will run for the first time this year, and will meet Don Alonzo, Prince George, Governor Foraker, Lidgewood, Rainbow, Dr. Rice, Sir Walter and St. Domingo in the famous Withers Stakes, one of the historically contested and memorable contests of the American turf. Marcus first paid $26,000 for Sir Francis at the sale last November, while Michael F. Power paid $20,000 for Don Alonzo, and the latter paid $18,000 for Lidgewood. The two horses will ride side by side. The former is the favorite, and the latter never swerved before, but on this occasion he ran dangerously near his opponents.

Aleide, Comanche, Johanna, Simmons and Lorraine were withdrawn. Bolo made the running for a furlong and was passed by Ethlann Queen and Chesapeake. The inquiry questioned Clayton, who gave as an excuse that he was interfered with. Flint, who rode Sims, was fined $100 for disobeying the rules.

Longfellow, Terrier, the Bluet Dox, Tilly, Tarkie, Fidelio, the Duke B. Muir, Nellie, Michael Queen, Bedmore, Do Little and Crosspatch were withdrawn. Raceland was green, did not know how to break and when the flag fell did not know enough to go off with the field. Miss Lily, Melody, Parasang and Madeline were the leaders throughout, and in a pretty finish Melody won by a length and a half, Parasang second, a nose before Miss Lily, who beat Madeline two lengths. The favorite was outrun all the way.

FIFTH RACE—HUDSON RIVER HANDICAP; $30 each, $1,500 added. One mile and three-eighths.

Betting, St. Pl.

M. F. Dwyer's b. g. Raceland, by Billie Dancer—Tilly, 115 lbs. (Lambley) 1 2-1 4-1

Mrs. Pickwick, Steve Este, Ronald and Mr. Sase were taken off to make a perfect start. Fidelio, ready or not to make the running, was passed at the start, followed closely by Gloaming and Fidelio, with the others strung out. In the stretch Sims was retired, leaving Fidelio in front for a few strides. Then there was a general closing up and His Highness took the lead, with Stockton at his back. His Highness leaped over another Stockton, who was forced against Fidelio, fouling the latter badly. Raceland slipped through on the rail in the last fifty yards, and in a desperate finish seemed to win by a nose, but the judges made it a dead heat between him and His Highness. Stockton third, was beaten only a head, with Terrier close behind. The stakes were divided.
